ENGINEERS REGISTRATION BOARD

The Board is carrying out regular monitoring of engineering activities. This is according to Section 4 of the Engineers Registration Act, Cap 63, and Regulation No. 52 of the Engineers Registration Regulation, 2010. These provisions allow the Board to enter and inspect any place where engineering construction, repair, maintenance, and processing are in progress. The photo above shows the ERB team conducting a site visit to the Arusha Football Stadium construction project on 19th March, 2025. This stadium will host for AFCON 2027, is expected to contribute significantly to economic development and tourism in Arusha City and the northern regions of Tanzania. The insert on the lower left shows the progress of the Arusha Football Stadium in 2025.

ENGINEERS REGISTRATION BOARD

The Professional Practice extends beyond academic qualifications and practical experience, it embodies the right mindset and ethical conduct expected of a professional engineer. Through this ethical commitment, engineers affirm to make decisions that maintain safety, health, fairness, and sustainability demonstrating their responsibility to society and the engineering profession. The oath-taking is anchored in the Engineers Registration Act, Cap. 63. Above photo shows engineers taking the oath/affirmation during the 22nd Annual Engineers Day (AED) held on Mlimani City Complex from 25th to 26th September, 2025.

The Board is mandated with monitoring and regulating the engineering practice in Tanzania through registration of engineers, engineering technicians and consulting firms. The Engineers Registration Act, Cap. 63 allows only registered engineers to engage in professional engineering work and/or services. Registration is thus a licence and the only way of ensuring that one is professionally qualified to practise engineering activities. Under the Act, it is illegal for an engineer, technician or an engineering firm to practise the profession if is not registered with the Board. The insert shows the Deputy Permanent Secretary of the President's Office Public Service Management and Good Governance, Xavier Daudi, who officiated the closing ceremony of the 7th Annual Engineering Technicians Day (AETD), held from 21st to 22nd May 2025 at the PSSSF Commercial Complex.
